Evonik and TeamTec agree on a cooperation for the marketing of AVITALIS™ Ballast Water Treatment System

Essen, Germany and Tvedestrand, Norway, February 15, 2016

On February 15, 2016, TeamTec AS and Evonik Resource Efficiency GmbH have signed a cooperation agreement for the marketing of AVITALIS™ Ballast Water Treatment System (AVITALIS™).

AVITALIS™ is a fully automated system for the disinfection of ballast water aboard of ships. AVITALIS™ utilizes the highly efficacious and biologically degradable PERACLEAN® Ocean, which has been specifically developed for the treatment of ballast water.

Within the cooperation with Evonik, TeamTec takes over the global responsibility for the manufacture, sales and service of AVITALIS™. Evonik with its global presence and established supply chains for specialty chemicals ensures the supply of the customers with PERACLEAN® Ocean as well as the further development of the technology.

TeamTec is a globally leading supplier of waste incinerators and stripping ejectors for the use aboard of ships. Beyond this, TeamTec's parent company IMS Group is a market leader in watertight ship doors.

"In TeamTec as a globally leading supplier of maritime specialty equipment we have found the ideal partner for the marketing of AVITALIS™. With its broad market access and production know how for specialty components for the ship industry, TeamTec perfectly complements our own technology competencies", explains Michael Träxler, head of the Business Line Active Oxygens of Evonik.

Olav Voie, CEO of TeamTec emphasizes: "AVITALIS™ is the ideal addition to our maritime product portfolio. With AVITALIS™, we are now able to also offer our customers a reliable and environmentally friendly solution for the treatment of ballast water. February 16, 2015
